

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

---

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | PAGE |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| PREFACE .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 5    |
| INDEX .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 17   |
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |      |
| PREPATORY ADDRESS TO THE PROTESTANT CLERGY.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |      |
| SECTION 1. STATEMENT OF SUBJECT.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 23   |
| Position of Clergy.—Every age has its needs.—A stationary policy impracticable.—Problems proposed for solution.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |      |
| SECTION 2. SUCCESSES AND REVERSES OF EARLY PROTESTANTISM.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 26   |
| Conquests of Protestantism in forty years.—Most of Europe lost to the Pope.—The outlook in 1568.—The reaction during eighty years thereafter.—Expatriation of Moriscoes and its effects.—Roman Catholic gains in England: in the United States.—How explain this?                                                                                            |      |
| SECTION 3. INADEQUATE CAUSES SUGGESTING THEMSELVES.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 33   |
| The Catholic reformation.—Loyola.—Persecution and the sword insufficient explanations.—Sceptical revolution of the eighteenth and counter-revolution of nineteenth centuries.                                                                                                                                                                                |      |
| SECTION 4. HOW EXPLAIN THE FOREGOING EPISODES? .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 39   |
| Roman Catholic doctrines.—Scientific research restricted.—Dogma of Infallibility.—Can there be religious progress?—Triumphs of Science.—Grand truth in Protestantism.                                                                                                                                                                                        |      |
| SECTION 5. THE SIN AT MARBURG AND AT GENEVA.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 49   |
| Luther and Zwingli at Marburg.—Luther's radical error.—Calvin's sin.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |      |
| SECTION 6. THE FORTUNES AND THE FATE OF SERVETUS.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 53   |
| Servetus and Oecolampadius.—Servetus in Paris, in Vienne, and in Geneva.—His great work.—Escapes from Vienne, is tried for blasphemy and condemned to be burned alive.—Calvin's share in his death confessed and applauded.—Could such men conquer?                                                                                                          |      |
| SECTION 7. RELIGIOUS TOLERATION THREE HUNDRED YEARS AGO .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 70   |
| Castilio.—Socinus.—Zwingli.—Virtually no toleration in the sixteenth century.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |      |
| SECTION 8. SALIENT DOCTRINES OF THE REFORMERS.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 73   |
| Their seal.—St. Augustine's influence.—The "Institutes."—Calvin's ideas on human depravity, origin of evil, predestination, and works.—Incredible lengths to which he went.—Contrasted with Luther.—Luther on vicarious atonement, and faith without works.—Sabbath and Sunday in Augsburg Confession.—Diderot and D'Alembert.—Human will a beast of burden? |      |

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | PAGE |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| SECTION 9. WHAT LESSON DOES THE HISTORY OF THE REFORMATION TEACH?.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 90   |
| How long shall we wait?—Foundation of popular theology.—Freer opinions of Luther.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |      |
| SECTION 10. SPIRIT AND TEACHINGS OF CHRISTIANITY COMPARED WITH THOSE OF CALVINISTIC AND LUTHERAN THEOLOGY .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 97   |
| Master-principle of Christianity.—Profanations of Christian name.—Calvinism and Lutheranism and Christianity compared.—Who inherit Heaven?—Fascination of Calvin's Theology.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |      |
| SECTION 11. EFFECT ON MORALITY OF CERTAIN FAVORITE DOCTRINES OF THE REFORMERS .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 110  |
| All human actions bear fruit.—Effect inseparable from cause.—The scape-goat.—Mercy, not sacrifice.—Belief neither crime nor virtue.—Christ before Paul.—We must not preach cowardice.—True humility.—Overmuch introspection.—Power of faith and love.—Hell.                                                                                                                                                                                                    |      |
| SECTION 12. CORROBORATION FROM HISTORY.....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 126  |
| Luther's despondency.—Iron rule in Geneva.—Comedy and Tragedy.—The Scottish kirk.—Puritans courageous and cruel.—Quakers.—Roger Williams.—Laws to hang children.—World's debt to the Reformers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |      |
| SECTION 13. CHRISTIANITY, SHORN OF PARASITIC CREDOS, A PROGRESSIVE SCIENCE .....                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 141  |
| Infallibility arrests progress.—Grammatolatry the worst idolatriy.—Safer without doctrine of plenary inspiration.—Miracles or law?—Temple and Baden Powell.—Conscience supreme.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |      |
| SECTION 14. SPIRITUALISM NECESSARY TO CONFIRM THE TRUTHS, AND ASSURE THE PROGRESS, OF CHRISTIANITY..                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 154  |
| Rénan's leadership.—Two variant theories.—The Indifferent.—Deism unsatisfactory.—Did spiritual gifts cease?—Christ never taught the miraculous, nor a finality.—Ecclesiastical "miracles" discredited.—Inspiration the origin of all religions.—Accordance of Spiritualism with Christianity.—The doctrines of Spiritualism.—It teaches no speculative divinity.—It denounces no religion.—Proof of immortality imperatively needed.—Sacred duty of investigation. |      |

---

BOOK I.

TOUCHING COMMUNICATION OF RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE TO MEN.

CHAPTER I.

|                                                          |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| OF HUMAN INFALLIBILITY.....                       | 183 |
| Subject proposed.—The great problem.—Direct revelation?— |     |

Theory of evil.—The tide against infallibility.—Church of Rome's stronghold.—Translations and canon of Scripture.—King James' instructions.—Proof of immortality indispensable.

CHAPTER II.

|                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------|-----|
| OF MEDIATE SPIRITUAL REVEALINGS..... | 105 |
|--------------------------------------|-----|

Infallibility, Scepticism, and a third element.—Why came spiritualism so late?—Belief in devil.—Possession.—Witchcraft.—Christ's treatment of these influences.—The Salem tragedy.—No infallible teachings.—A bishop's blunder.—Demonic theory untenable.—Phases of belief in Christendom.—Secularism.—A lost opportunity.—Movements in Anglican Church.—Quakerism and Swedenborgianism: their truths, errors, and failure.—Spiritualism: its growth, successes, and the number of its adherents.—Temporary schism.—How Spiritualism should be studied.—Hints and warnings.

CHAPTER III.

|                     |     |
|---------------------|-----|
| OF INSPIRATION..... | 241 |
|---------------------|-----|

This subject in bad hands.—What inspiration is.—The source of all religions.—Two theories: Socrates sets forth one, and Cicero the other.—Demon of Socrates.—Socrates before his judges.—A French magnetizer alarmed.—Mental powers during somnambulism.—An illogical Prince.—Homer and Shakespeare: literary inspiration.—Raphael: artistic inspiration.—Beethoven and Mozart: musical inspiration.—The Titanic steps of the world.—Darwin's theory.—Man's first appearance.—Unprecedented step in Spiritual progress.—Scepticism at fault.—The ANOINTED.—What man may be.—Whence Christ's preëminence?—Spiritual communication touching His birth.—His powers conditional.—Danger of putting trust in incidentals.—How interpret "the Son of God"?—Christ's promise fulfilled.

CHAPTER IV.

|                                  |     |
|----------------------------------|-----|
| DIFFICULTIES AND PREJUDICES..... | 277 |
|----------------------------------|-----|

Inexperienced pioneers.—Physical and Spiritual science need differing modes of treatment.—An infant hypothesis.

BOOK II.

SOME CHARACTERISTICS OF THE PHENOMENA.

CHAPTER I.

|                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------|-----|
| THEIR COMING USUALLY UNEXPECTED..... | 281 |
|--------------------------------------|-----|

At the Russian Minister's.—The strange answer: what thinking entity made it?—Changed tenor of author's life.—A domestic invasion.—Apparition soon after death.—Midnight excursion to California.—Speaking by influence.—Why a villa was sold at a loss.—A midnight visitor.—Apparition of a repentant domestic.—Repentance among “spirits in prison.”

PAGE

CHAPTER II.

|                                              |     |
|----------------------------------------------|-----|
| ANIMALS PERCEIVING SPIRITUAL PHENOMENA ..... | 303 |
|----------------------------------------------|-----|

What befell a Swiss officer.—The dog, cat, and canary-bird: how affected.—What preceded a child’s death.—The dog in the Wolfridge wood: its life-long terror.

CHAPTER III.

|                                                |     |
|------------------------------------------------|-----|
| UNIVERSALITY OF SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS ..... | 310 |
|------------------------------------------------|-----|

Is Spiritualism a superstitious epidemic?—Bell-ringing in England: a cluster of narratives.—Sutan in the bells.—Captain Marryat and the Lady of Burnham Green.—The House of Mystery.—Endemic disturbances throughout a hundred years.—Knock and it shall be opened.

CHAPTER IV.

|                                                              |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| SPIRITUAL PHENOMENA SOMETIMES RESULT IN SEEMING TRIFLES..... | 336 |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

The butler’s ghost: Lord Erskine’s testimony.—A fashionable lady’s “dog-ears and folds.”—A mere trifle predicted.

BOOK III.

PHYSICAL MANIFESTATIONS.

CHAPTER I.

|                     |     |
|---------------------|-----|
| THE SPIRIT-RAP..... | 343 |
|---------------------|-----|

With Leah and Kate Fox.—The spirit-rap tested throughout a house; on water; in trees; on a ledge of sea-shore rock.—Seeing the raps.—Touched by the agency which spirit-raps.—A phosphorescent light raps on a door.—Spirit-hands melt away.—Poundings by a homicide.—Tremendous knockings: house shaken.—Visit to a haunted house.—Overpowering clatter.—Effect of sudden light.

CHAPTER II.

|                                                 |     |
|-------------------------------------------------|-----|
| MOVING PONDERABLE BODIES BY OCCULT AGENCY ..... | 361 |
|-------------------------------------------------|-----|

Crucial test: Robert Chambers present.—Table, weighing one hundred and twenty pounds, suspended in air.—Table, flung into the air, rotates.—Terrible power shown.

CHAPTER III.

|                            |     |
|----------------------------|-----|
| DIRECT SPIRIT WRITING..... | 399 |
|----------------------------|-----|

Baron de Guldenstubbé: his experiences in direct writing.—Strangely suggestive!—My own experiences.—Seeing an illuminated hand write.—Specimens of writing.—Can the senses be trusted?—Direct writing by gas-light.—Specimen.—

Experiences of Mr. Livermore and of Mrs. John Davis.—Writing on human hand and arm.—Letters appear and fade under author's eyes.

CHAPTER IV.

SPIRIT TOUCHES..... 391

In Naples with Mr. Home.—Prince Luigi's experience.—Spirit-touches by gas-light in New York.—The difficulties of disbelief.

BOOK IV.

IDENTITY OF SPIRITS.

CHAPTER I.

STUBBORN FACTS CONNECTING TWO WORLDS..... 396

A Spirit arranges its worldly affairs.—Sister Elizabeth and the family register.—The grandmother's promise and apparition.

CHAPTER II.

A CASE OF IDENTITY THREE HUNDRED YEARS OLD..... 409

Human love bridges the gulf: so may philanthropy.—Earth-binding influences.—The spinet.—N. G. Bach's dream; his hand writes.—The parchment.—Baltazarini.—Henry III.; song composed by him.—Marie de Clèves.—M. Bach's certificate.

CHAPTER III.

A BEAUTIFUL SPIRIT MANIFESTING HERSELF..... 434

An old promise kept.—Proof of identity from 500 miles off.—Apparition of the betrothed.—Typical test.—Portrait with emblem.—Deductions.

BOOK V.

THE CROWNING PROOF OF IMMORTALITY.

CHAPTER I.

THE GREAT FAITH-ARTICLE OF THE FIRST CENTURY..... 451

Early Christian faith based on Christ's apparition.—Study of apparitions important.

CHAPTER II.

APPARITIONS SHOWING THEMSELVES SPONTANEOUSLY..... 455

False ideas touching ghosts, very injurious.—Appearance soon after death.

CHAPTER III.

MY OWN EXPERIENCE TOUCHING APPARITIONS..... 459

Hour with Leah Fox.—An apparition seen, felt and heard.—A ghost speaks.—Interruption.—Spiritual sculpture.—Apparition in Boston.—Plan of locality.—Shining raiment.

CHAPTER IV.

|                                                                                     |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| A NEAR RELATIVE SHOWS HERSELF, THROUGHOUT FIVE YEARS,TO A SURVIVING FRIEND..... | 482 |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|

Mr. Livermore's testimony.—The crucial test.—Figure reflected in mirror.—Exhibition of rare beauty.—Corroboration throughout years.—Figure throws shadow on wall.—Apparitions seen through three hundred sittings.—Spirit flowers.—Additional witnesses.—Mr. Livermore's letter to author.

CHAPTER V.

|                                                                                                    |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| WHAT APPARITIONS ARE AND HOW FORMED.....                                                           | 502 |
| The spiritual body.—A temporary induement.—Spiritual sculpture.—An imperfect apparition completed. |     |

---

BOOK VI.

SPIRITUAL GIFTS OF THE FIRST CENTURY APPEARING IN OUR OWN TIMES.

CHAPTER I.

|                                                                                                                                                      |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| CURES BY SPIRITUAL AGENCY.....                                                                                                                       | 510 |
| Christ's mission.—Marquis de Guibert's hospital.—Cure through Leah Fox.—The instantaneous cure.—Insanity cured by spiritual influence: two examples. |     |

CHAPTER II.

|                                                                                                                                                               |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| OTHER SPIRITUAL GIFTS .....                                                                                                                                   | 525 |
| Gifts of prophecy, of discerning of spirits, of tongues, of working of "miracles," of seeing the hidden past, all exemplified in our day.—The proleptic gift. |     |

---

BOOK VII.

THE CONCLUSION OF THE WHOLE MATTER.

CHAPTER I.

|                                                                                       |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| SUMMARY.....                                                                          | 530 |
| Roman Catholic argument.—An alternative.—What should be discarded, and what retained. |     |

CHAPTER II.

|                                                                                                                                                                           |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| WHAT UNDERLIES CHRIST'S TEACHINGS, AS FOUNDATION-MOTIVE.....                                                                                                              | 537 |
| When comes the Kingdom of Heaven?—The hunger and thirst.—Christ seeks to awaken the slumbering love of the Right.—His promise, on conditions.—Questioning the unexplored. |     |